04 / IMAGERY

ART DIRECTION

WHERE PRODUCT MEETS RUGGED REALISM

Carbinox imagery is cinematic and low-key: deep shadows, a single hard light raking across metal and texture, and a warm amber highlight that ties every frame back to the brand. Product is the hero; environments are real, rugged and unstaged.

LIGHT	Single hard key - deep falloff
GRADE	Low-key, desaturated, warm amber lift
SUBJECT	Product hero - real environments
DETAIL	Macro texture — metal, grain, wear
MOOD	Serious, capable, a little dangerous

LOOK & FEEL — TREATMENT REFERENCE

MACRO • HARDWARE One build claim per frame.	ENVIRONMENT Watch in the terrain it survives.	CONDITIONS Supports IP69K and SATM claims.	PRODUCT • NEUTRAL Spec and comparison contexts only.
---	---	--	--

TORN SEAM DIVIDER 71 px tall. Separates major sections and signals a change of subject. Full-bleed only, never inset, never stacked twice in a row.	ORANGE TEXTURE - DARK Used as a background overlay at 4% opacity, it adds subtle depth to layouts without overpowering content.	ORANGE TEXTURE - LIGHT Used as a background overlay at 4% opacity, it adds subtle depth to layouts without overpowering content.	IMAGE SCRIB Black 70% to 0% over top 22% and left 65% of any photo with type. Can be used two stacked gradients, or a flat overlay.

DO Do it like this - Protect the shadows — keep it low-key and moody. - One warm, hard amber accent light. No more. - Fill the frame with product; get in close on detail. - Shoot real materials, wear and honest environments.	DON'T Avoid this - Bright, flat, evenly-lit studio lighting. - Rainbow color casts or heavy over-saturation. - Busy backgrounds that compete with the product. - Cheesy stock photography or obviously staged scenes.
